Scrum and essence

Our team has been utilizing scrum meetings and the “scrum” board on our github page to keep track of what needs to be done. For sprint one, we didn’t explicitly use the ontological terms of essence while working with the concepts, so we may have an issues where some team members don’t realize they’re using essence. We also had issues getting all team members to come to class and come to meetings. For sprint 1 we did not not adopt more methods.
