Part 1

1. Create a new Gradle Project using the Java Application defaults
 - Name the package `cs.isu.edu.cs2263.practicum13`
2. In the root of the project add a `docs` folder
3. Add an `index.md` file with a markdown link pointing to `javadoc/index.html`
4. In your `build.gradle` add the ability to generate javadoc and have it produce the documentation in the `project root/docs/javadoc` folder
5. Create a new GitHub repo and connect it to this project
6. Update the GitHub repo to use GitHub Pages located in the `docs` folder
7. Using `git` add all of the changes (to the main branch) and then push to the origin

1. Create a couple of classes
 - A Person
 - A Student
 - A Course
 - An Instructor
2. Flesh out these classes with some appropriate fields
3. Add Gson to your build.gradle
4. Write some code to use Gson to convert objects of the above classes to json and back.
